We Wonder Where Our Chamber of Commerce Is?

THE ORGANIZATION STARTED STRONG LAST SPRING BUT APPARENTLY SOME OF THE WHEELS SLIPPED

Last spring at a very enthusiastic gathering in the nature of a banquet, the citizens and business men of Yale met and started something in the nature of a Chamber of Commerce. And it was an interesting meeting, too. Speakers from out of town were present, and everybody seemed to think that our little city had made a start in the right direction. Temporary officers were elected, and the understanding was that there would be another meeting in the near future to perfect the organization and transact other necessary business.

We have been wondering lately what has become of our "Chamber of Commerce." Not a move has been made by those in charge to get the people together, and we believe something should be done soon to start the wheel rolling.

Let's get busy, call the meeting and see if Yale cannot have as good or even a better organization as other towns in this part of the state have.

If this is done we might have a chance to secure some of the manufacturing institutions that are seeking locations, but one thing is certain—we'll never get anything until the people of the city unite in doing everything in their power to make this "a place worth while."

We would suggest another banquet and smoker, at which time the organization could be perfected, permanent officers elected, by-laws adopted, and a drive started for membership which would include not only business men and citizens of the city, but farmers for several miles around as well.

Let's go to it!

PUTTING ON REAL SHOWS

There are not many towns in the state the size of Yale which can boast as up-to-date a movie house as we have in the Princess Theatre. And the class of plays which Mr. Cavanagh is giving his patrons compares very favorably with those which are being put on in some of the large cities.

The theatre is equipped with the very latest projecting machine, and there is but little of the usual flickering which so bothers people with the cheaper outfits. The room is comfortable, the seats roomy, and the building is heated with a furnace. Where could you find a better place to spend one of the coming winter evenings than at the Princess.

Last Saturday night the attraction was "Homespun Folks," and those who attended say it was one of the best ever put on in Yale. Tuesday night Richard Barthelmess was the leader in "Tol'able David," and the crowd which was present say it was worth many times the admission price asked.

Among the coming events are such plays as "North of the Rio Grande," featuring Jack Holt and Bebe Daniels, which will be here next Saturday night. Others are "Smilin' Through," and "Is Matrimony a Failure?" In the Comedy line such feature actors as Harold Lloyd, Snub Pollard, Larry Semon, are shown in their very latest productions. Also the popular "Toonerville Trolley." These acts certainly furnish comedy enough for any one, and the seats at Princess should be well-filled at every performance.

We believe the movie fans of our little city are beginning to realize what we have in the way of an up-to-date play house, and in the future the attendance of Yale people at other theatres will be considerably smaller than in the past.

BEN. CHARLES E. TOWNSEND

Re-Nominated U. S. Senator on the Republican Ticket at the Primaries

In a letter received from U. S. Senator Charles E. Townsend by the Expositor he expresses his sincere gratitude to the voters of Yale and vicinity for standing so loyally by him in the primaries held Sept. 12, in the following words:

"The loyalty of my friends has filled me not only with a deep sense of obligation but also of responsibility to all the people of this great State whom it has been my privilege to serve as United States Senator for almost twelve years.

"I know that I do not need to impress you with the fight that is ahead of us and am confident that through your continued cooperation the decision at the Primary will be ratified on election day.

Meeting at Princess Theatre On Saturday, October 28th

Arrangements have been made whereby one or two outside lady speakers will be in Yale Saturday of this week and give talks on the issues of the present campaign from a Republican standpoint. All should be aware that there are many vital questions to be solved at the coming election, Nov. 7th, and it stands everyone in hand to become posted, therefore being better prepared to vote right.

The meeting will be held at the Princess Theatre, Yale, at 2:30 p. m., Saturday, Oct. 28, and every lady and gentleman should be present. Mrs. Jennie Pelky, vice-chairman of the Republican county committee, accompanied by Miss Corbisley are expected to be here and address the meeting. A large turnout of interested voters is hoped for. Be sure and be there.

U. OF M. STUDENTS TOTAL NEAR 10,000

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 24—Figures compiled by Register A. G. Hall show that 9,510 students are registered in the U. of M. this year, up to Oct. 15. Last year at a corresponding date there were 9,082 students registered.

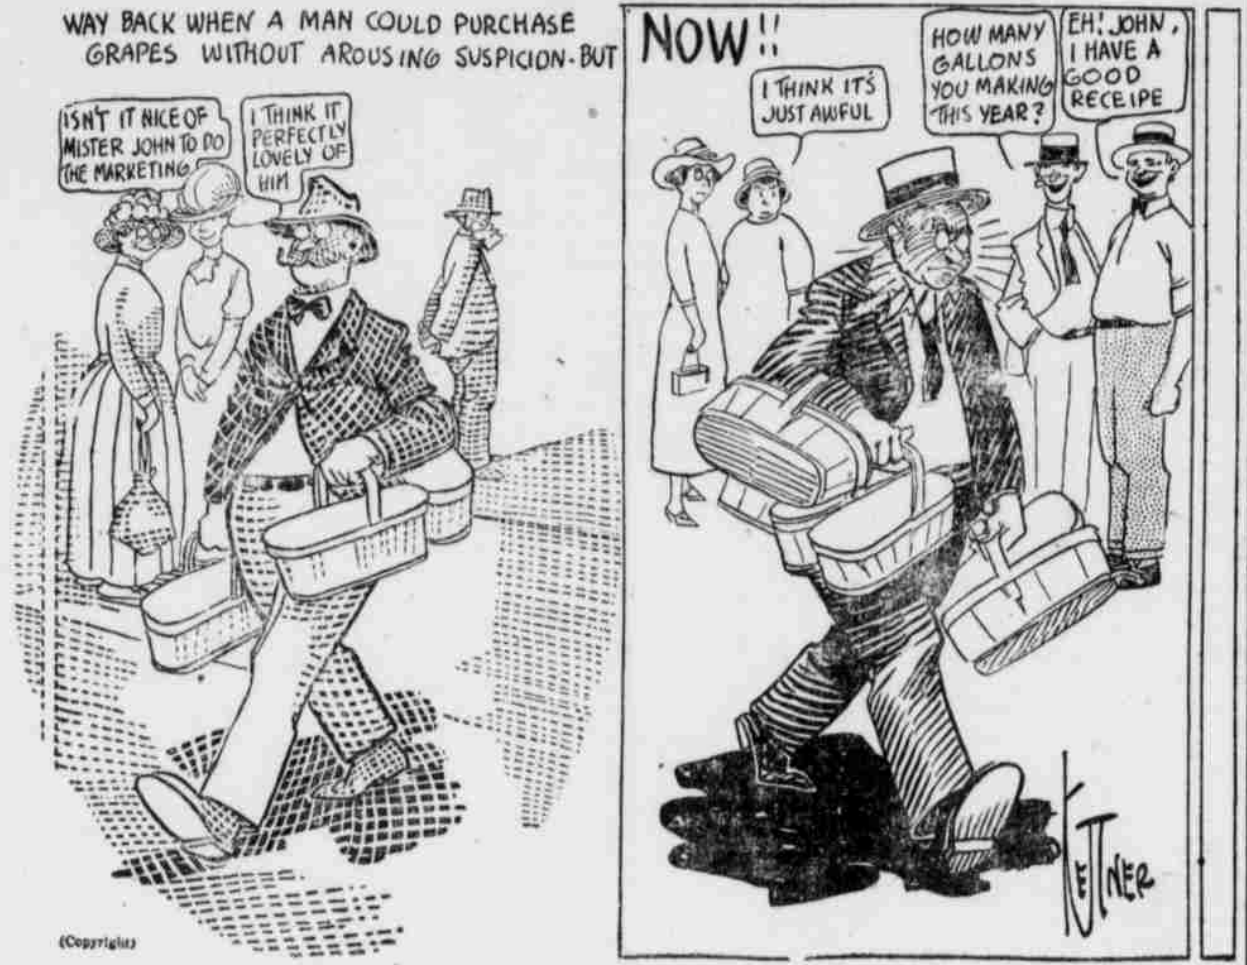

The registration for the literary college is 4,727, plus an estimated enrollment in the extension course for credit of 550 more, making 5,277 students registered in the literary college alone, as many as were registered in the whole university in '12.

Brockway Township Registration

Notice is hereby given to all qualified electors of the township of Brockway, not already on the registration books, that the Board of Registration will be in session at my residence in said township on Saturday, October 21, and on Saturday, October 28, from nine o'clock in the forenoon until five o'clock in the afternoon of each day, for the purpose of revising and correcting the registration.

Floyd E. Orman, Twp. Clerk.

NEW POSTMASTER FOR BROWN CITY

Duncan A. McKeith has received his appointment as postmaster for Brown City, and will take charge of the office Nov. 1st.

Mr. McKeith was one of seven applicants who took the examination. He has been cashier of the Citizens' Savings bank of that town for the past fifteen years and has always been prominent in business, church and social circles.

Duncan was a resident of Yale for a number of years and his many friends here join with the Expositor in congratulating him on his appointment to the important trust of postmaster and wish him continued success through life.

William H. Cronin is the retiring postmaster.

PRESBYTERIAN S. S. HALLOWE'EEN PARTY

The Presbyterian Sunday school will give a Halloween party at the church Oct. 31. A program has been prepared by the school. Games and the regular Halloween stunts will help to constitute fun for the evening. Refreshments will be served by the ladies of the Sunday school. Come out, a' you Presbyterians and support the fast growing school of young people.

Shall We, or Shall We Not?

Two weeks from next Saturday is Armistice Day, and so far we haven't heard a word as to whether or not Yale would make the eagle scream.

Isn't it pretty near time something was being done? Let's make a little noise, anyway.

PLEASANT PARTY

Mrs. Fred Mathews and Mrs. Guy E. Beard were hostesses at the home of the former on Thursday afternoon last to twenty-four ladies. The guests played Five Hundred at six tables and later a delicious lunch was served.

To Whom It May Concern:

I hereby notify my patrons and all others that my cows have been tuberculin tested and are free from that disease. After Nov. 1, the price of milk will be 10c per quart until the cows go on grass again.

For Sale—Favorite base burner, Garland range and Perfection oil stove with oven. Cheap if taken at once. Earl Hutton, Wood street, Yale.

FOR SALE—Durham cow, 7 yrs. old, due to freshen. Bert Travis, 2 miles north of Yale.

MUSIC STUDY CLUB

The Music Study club held a very delightful meeting on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Edward Andreae.

The club is growing, both in numbers and interest, twelve new members having been added just recently, and more names coming in. Thirty members were present at this week's gathering.

The regular subject was given over for the day to two numbers, a beautiful piano solo, "Dedication," a song by Robert Franz, transcription by Bendel, was beautifully rendered by Elizabeth McColl as the opening of the program. The remainder of the hour was well spent in listening to Dorothy Lacy, who in a graphic and remarkably interesting manner, gave a splendid account of the Passion Play as she saw it at Oberammergau during her recent trip to Europe. The Passion Play is Biblical, given by the Peasants of this little Bavarian town every tenth year, and the artists, singers and actors are very wonderful. The costumes are very quaint, Miss Lacy wearing one on this afternoon. After her talk many questions were asked, which she answered very interestingly.

The meeting was closed with the singing of the National anthem.

The next meeting will be held with Elizabeth McColl on Tuesday, Nov. 7, the subject being patriotic.

Beatty-Welbanke

A number of friends gathered at the home of Sophie Rose on Wednesday, Oct. 18th, at four o'clock, to witness a quiet wedding of her niece, Miss Georgia Beatty, of Kincardine, to Mr. Franklin Welbanke, of Picton, Ont. Rev. Denison McCall performed the ceremony. After a wedding supper they left on the evening train. The best wishes go with them.

Yale Wins From Marysville

The football team made a good stand at Marysville last Friday and defeated the river men 12 to 0. The teams were evenly matched in weight and size. Yale was successful with her forward passing.

Capac will play Yale at Yale next Wednesday, Nov. 1. Come out and see the team play. We meet Marine City there this week Friday.

For Sale—House and lot on Jones street, city of Yale. For further particulars enquire at the premises. Mrs. W. W. Davis, 31-2

SANDUSKY TO GO AFTER LEGION ORPHAN HOME

The American Legion will build an orphan home in Michigan, and propositions are being received from different parts of the state with view of obtaining the institution.

The Russell Wakefield Post of this place has appointed a committee composed of Rev. E. C. Lindsay, Guy Warner and John Lowe to meet with the business men of this city to see what offer Sandusky will make toward securing the home.

The institution will be for caring for the orphans of all ex-service men.—Sandusky Republican.

AS A MAN THINKETH

If a man thinks everyone is against him, he will soon begin to treat them so they will be. If he thinks everyone is his friend, he will treat them right, unconsciously, and they will soon be his friends. The man who lives his daily life according to this formula has in his make-up a spark of sound philosophy that will make his life brighter. If we put into all the relations with our fellows a full measure of friendliness and good will, we are pretty sure to get it back, full and overflowing. On the other hand, if a man is suspicious of everybody, everyone will be suspicious of him. The man who goes about looking for a fight is sure to get licked some day, good and plenty.

True friendliness is founded on sincerity. And sincerity is about the only thing in this world that can't be counterfeited. The impulse toward friendliness springs from the very soul of man.

The world needs friendliness, and kindness, and good will. Not Sundays only, but every day in the week, and every hour of the day. Think friendly thoughts. If you've got a soul, don't be ashamed of it. Bring it into the office with you. For the soul is the source and fountain-head of every good and worthy impulse. Put your faith in men. Believe they are your friends and they will be.—Earnshaw Press of Boston.

THE NEXT STRIKE

Yes, there will be another strike. We cannot say whether it will be in Michigan or Missouri, Kentucky or Kansas, or whether the city affected will be Toledo or "Timbuctoo," but we do know that there will be, somewhere in America, another strike. Some day, in the not distant future, a strike order will be issued, and the men will trudge out, 95 per cent of them not knowing what for, but nevertheless blindly obeying an order which requires them to stop work.

While we are not able to foresee where the strike will be, we are nevertheless able, with a great deal of accuracy, to state several things that will take place.

First of all, then, there will be a tremendous loss of money. The strikers will lose their wages, which in the aggregate will amount to many millions of dollars; dollars which they sorely need for life's necessities; these will be lost. Of that we are certain.

Then, again, there will be a great deal of suffering. The wives and children of the workers will be compelled to do without food, clothing and other necessities, to say nothing of the luxuries to which they are justly entitled. So we can state with certainty, there will be a great deal of suffering.

But there is another fact which can be stated positively, that is, there will be created a great deal of ill-will and bad feeling. Employers will feel hateful toward their employees. They will be saying bitterly, "Of what use are the thousands of dollars we have paid out to make labor conditions better, to improve sanitation, to install safety devices, and to increase the comfort and contentment of our men? They only walk out on us when we need them most." And such employers will be likely to allow their bitterness to extend to all laborers, and a class spirit will be created.

But it will also create ill feeling in the hearts of the laborers as well. Most of them will not know why they are striking, but they will be told that it is because their employer has been unjust and unfair. This will be to them a great surprise, as they had always supposed him to be a kind and generous man, in fact, in times of trouble and sickness, they had proved him to be such, but now they are disillusioned. They are told that he is a very bad man, and their hearts are filled with hate and vengeance, and they are ready to join in an attack upon his property, and even upon his life.

Another thing that we know positively about the next strike is that it will end in failure. After some weeks, or months, as the case may be, of idleness and consequent suffering, and as the slender bank accounts become exhausted, and the needless wrangling ceases, the men will trudge back to their accustomed places and go to work, having accomplished nothing, and having subjected themselves and their families and society at large, to a great deal of inconvenience, they will quit the strike and be whistling cheerfully as they find the joy of honest toil, and thus, the next strike, like all preceding strikes, will be over.—Dr. F. A. Perry.

City of Yale Registration

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Registration for the City of Yale will be in session at the office of the City Clerk in the Expositor office building on Saturday, Oct. 28, from 9 o'clock in the forenoon until 5 o'clock in the afternoon for the purpose of registering all qualified electors not now on the registration books of the city and also to correct all errors.

Robert Lewis Fetting, 22 months old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fetting, is the most perfect baby in the city of Port Huron. The child lacks only three-tenths of a per cent of being a perfect baby. His only defect is a slight over weight.

The entire wheat crop on the Ashley Shafer farms near Memphis, about 1,000 bushels, burned with grain barn during threshing. Small insurance was carried. The threshing outfit uses oil for fuel, so the blaze is a mystery. The proprietor of the farm, Ashley Shafer, has been an invalid since he was kicked by a horse two months ago.

Among the cases being heard by the supreme court in Lansing this week is that of Herman Clumfoot of Port Huron against the St. Clair Tunnel company. Clumfoot was awarded a judgment of $30,000 by a circuit court jury last January, as damages for injuries received while in the employ of the St. Clair Tunnel Co. The case was tried before Judge Eugene F. Law and the judgment was one of the largest ever given in this county. The company appealed to the supreme court, contending that it is not liable for the injuries to Clumfoot.
